

Part of complete coverage on
Travel Snapshots

Waterfalls and capybaras in Venezuela

February 19, 2010 10:11 a.m. EST

Mixx Facebook Twitter Share Email Save Print

CNN
iReport

COURTESY KEVIN RAUB

Canaima National Park

The Canaima National Park waterfalls are "stunning, even without a rainbow," Kevin Raub said. "Venezuela is a strange beast indeed. It's so violent and misguided on one hand, yet so astoundingly beautiful on the other -- a traveling paradox of politics and palm trees."

HIDE CAPTION

Travel Snapshots

iReporters submitted their favorite photos of Venezuela and we chose nine great shots.

